Vision Statement

All Langston Hughes High School students will graduate prepared to pursue a post secondary option.

Mission Statement

Our Mission is to educate all students to become productive and competitive citizens in an ever changing global society. Each student will provided opportunities for academic and social growth which will allow them to reach their fullest potential.

Belief Statement

We believe that all students can learn
We believe in high expectations for all students
We believe that a safe and orderly environment is a prerequisite for learning
We believe that parental and community involvement is critical to students' success
We believe that continuous professional learning is essential for student achievement.

Welcome to Langston Hughes High School

The newest and largest constructed high school in South Fulton County.

Langston Hughes was an influential poet and author whose literary work helped create an innovative way of expression during the Harlem Renaissance period. The work of Langston Hughes continues to promote excellence in academic growth and social development.

LHHS doors opened in August 2009 to educate students in the southern portion of the Fulton County School System. Built to meet the needs of a rapidly growing community, this state-of-the-art facility will be the home to grades 9-12 students with an enrollment of approximately 2200. Under the leadership of Dr. Michael H. Robinson, a distinguished faculty and staff was assembled to serve the school community. The parents, students and staff of LHHS seek to build a school that is nationally competitive in academics, the arts, athletics and service to the community. The students, staff and school community have a school facility that will prepare them for the demands of the 21st century and beyond.

We would like to welcome the South Fulton community to the beginning of a new educational stage in the growth and development of the Atlanta metropolitan area. We appreciate your continued support.

TO CONTACT THE PRINCIPAL: ROBINSONMH@FULTONSCHOOLS.ORG

Dear Langston Hughes High School Students/Parents:

Please allow me to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to you for a successful inaugural school year at Langston Hughes High School. Our inaugural school year gave us the added challenge of getting use to a newly constructed building and establishing new relationships within our school community. We can be proud of what we achieved during our inaugural year, but we can't let our achievements become complacency and satisfaction with the status quo. Our administration is committed to concentrating on the processes that spur continuous improvement. We will evaluate what we have, determine what we can do to improve and identify what we need to do to make these improvements work.

To our new stakeholders, it is with great honor and pride to have you join our family to be a part of the Panther tradition. I look forward to getting to know each of you as we work together to guide our students towards life-long learning and achievement. Please accept this letter as the first step towards establishing a strong line of communication and building a working relationship between your home and Langston Hughes High School.

I will do my very best to make the 2010-2011 school year a rewarding and challenging educational experience for all students. I look forward to seeing you on August 23, 2010.

Educationally Yours,

Michael H. Robinson, Ed. D.
Principal

While Langston Hughes High School will operate on a traditional six-period school day as a comprehensive high school, its non-traditional approach to educate students consists of academic pathways. The purpose of academic pathways is to give students a personalized learning opportunity to help motivate them to take ownership in their educational experience while at LHHS. The pathways provide all students with a challenging learning opportunity that will ensure they are prepared for an ever-changing global society. All academic pathways are geared toward a rigorous "college prep" curriculum supported by engaging and relevant instruction.
